OVERVIEW

Language and Literature are the results from the evolution of humans for many million years. English is a global language and the one who can use it correctly is a powerful speaker, writer and thinker. English studies aim at exactly that – to make you an effective Speaker, Writer, and Thinker.

At SRM AP, Andhra Pradesh, the Department of English is designed to help students increase writing and verbal English skills with regular practice and analysis of literature in English. Not only do we engage with British literature, but also with literature from other countries such as Australia, Poland, India. This course will cover English in social, business, scientific and professional situations as well as public speaking. We will uncover the building blocks of linguistics and effective writing. We will also examine the ways in which languages are systematically alike and different. Our investigation of English will introduce basic concepts of linguistics and a variety of cross-cultural topics.

English studies, in short, aims to sharpen the individual as a person who can effortlessly put the language to good use at great lengths. Perhaps you would like to write a movie, a play or create the content for a website, or just like to learn to speak and write more clearly to help you find the job of your dreams. All of these options and many more are available through the Department of English at SRM AP. Additionally, students will also pursue Foundation Courses and Minors across other departments within the School of Liberal Arts and Basic Sciences.

This program will be one of the best in India and has the faculty with international experience in written plays, research grants, and non-fiction content for websites and magazines. Rest assured you are in the best possible hands that can mould you into an effective communicator.
